

Judd Riaghan A. Vallente

The Layag journey has ended, yet a new journey awaits — a journey of giving back and paying forward everything Ateneo has taught and given me. I never would have thought that I would finally be docking the ship which I have sailed with for the last 16 years. God will be the one to reward all of those who have helped me reach this point in my life. Down from the Hill, to be men and women for others, to find God in all things. Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam!

Jake E. Yongco

To my blockmates, thank you for making me realize that failure never felt like a failure when there are people who failed with me; and success is not fully a success unless everyone else succeeded.

To my family, I hope I made you proud.

To God, let's keep in touch. I will surely still need your help in the future.

And to Youtube, I owe you for saving my sanity throughout college.