

Maria Cassandra R. Tantoco

Those four years went by in a blur. From the first day of classes to my last oral examination, I have soared and flown through the toughest terrain I have ever faced, but I would not have it any other way. I have the Ateneo to thank for all that I have become, and for all that I will be. And as I go down from the hill, I will do everything for the greater glory of God.

Teresa Demetria Z. Teopaco

Teddi catches everyone's attention with her charming smile and effervescent presence. Despite her influence on social media, it's her heart for others and overflowing empathy that people often overlook behind the likes. As a mental health and children's rights advocate, she continuously becomes the voice of those who are afraid to speak for themselves. The outpouring love she gives is enough proof of the strength within her. Without a doubt, her dad is proudly smiling down on her. (E. Modina)
