

Justine Erika V. Lorbes

I chose to be here. I secretly applied for the university and I struggled to make it back. Throughout the obstacles I've faced in college, somehow I've managed to march down the hill with a thousand hands to hold and remarkable stories to tell. The years I've spent in the Ateneo will be memories I will look back on time and time again -- a symbol for everything life and love has ever stood for.

Here's to uncertainty and the deeper understanding of living that comes with it.

Alec S. Lorica