Thank you, Ateneo, for helping me grow throughout my four-year stay. Here, I learned that grades do not really show how much I've learned. My C's and D's were the subjects that I worked hard for. Different professors from various courses have enabled me to take on new worldviews that continue to shape my own.

Before college, I was always afraid to try things outside my comfort zone. But there was just something about college that made me want to try the challenges ahead of me. Perhaps it could have been the professors who would always set a high standard, or the requirements which seemed to be endless until the very last day of the semester.

One factor that remained, though, would be the people who were always part of that journey and never failed to support and motivate me to be the best I can be.
