

Venus Grace A. Piñon

No one ever said that college was going to be easy. All the terror profs, the long papers, the written and oral exams, and the org work – they all made life in the Loyola Schools a living hell. Despite all these, Venus had a college life like no other. She met new friends that helped her get through all the challenging academic and extra-curricular activities, and most importantly, she met her first boyfriend who kept her from going insane when everything went south.

Eugen Anthony R. Pipo