

MINOR IN JAPANESE STUDIES

Francisco Lorenzo M. Castro III

This is to my future self: You made it, my dude. You may have hated the rush of running to and from Bel in 10 minutes flat, the sleepless nights studying, the long tests, and whatever else, but you did it. I know you get sentimental when things end, but think of it this way: You've made long-lasting friendships, had new experiences, learned and grown here. You made it all the way through, now it's time to get out there. Besides, no one said you couldn't come back to visit, right?

Leya Angelina S. Castro

A tough cookie with a heart of gold, Leya is someone you can be yourself around just make sure you leave the nonsense at the door. With her crazy humor and her straightforward approach to life, Leya is a force to be reckoned with. She's strong and determined like a captain that steers the ship through a rocky storm. She is loyal and true to those she loves. Whatever the weather, one thing is for sure: Leya is going places, and you're going to want to go with her. (J. Recio)Memento Vivere.
