

MINOR IN CHINESE STUDIES

Bianca Louise M. Fenix

Five years.... Every day changes so fast that I need to constantly invest on new shoes (plus coffee and milk tea!) to plant my feet firmly on the ground. Some days were disasters while others gave me friends to lean on. I learned that forging new bonds is easier than fixing old ones. But for a true and lasting friendship, we need the courage to traverse the splinters and cross the broken bridge. Ateneo, you gave me life lessons like these. Thank you, I am who I am because of you.

Beatriz O. Fernandez

She's not who she thought she would be. At all.