

MINOR IN MARKETING

Joelle Mae J. Garcia

Contrary to people's belief, the Ateneo is not about the prestige that the school carries. It's about the beautiful campus where the sky above SEC field goes from orange to navy blue. It's about the blockmates, orignates and classmates who became lifetime friends from OrSem strangers. It's about the knowledge earned throughout four unforgettable years that goes beyond grades. The Ateneo equipped me with values and skills necessary for the real world. With that, I am eternally grateful.

MINOR IN INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Joanna Christina S. Gatapia

In college, I learned how hard it was to love. I learned that life will break you a million pieces, and that in putting yourself back together, you may very well be remade into someone entirely different, but still somehow the same. I learned that, when you are broken, nothing is more difficult than to love, to hope, and to be brave. But love anyway. Hope anyway. I am all the better for having done so. (D. Cheng)