

Cassandra Dominique G. Tirona

Here's to the tears shed because of all the long tests, quizzes, papers, presentations and oral exams. Here's also to all of the laughter, joy and love I experienced with the friends I gained, and with all those relationships I was able to strengthen in my four years in Ateneo. My stay here taught me to take on whatever challenge is ahead of me. No matter what may come my way, I know I will be able to surpass it, especially with my family and friends by my side.
