

Vincent O. Ngan

I came from a green school then went to the blue one. You know what I like to call myself? Atelite. Either way, the journey has been great despite it being a roller coaster ride, courtesy of the people I've met along the way.

Josemaria T. Onglao

A true blue eagle, bred and molded by the Ateneo. It is here where I learned that relationships and learnings are far more important than grades, and gained friends who I know will last a lifetime. The challenges in life will never stop, but my heart and my mind will guide me. And even if there may be times that I go down the hills, I know I'll be able to rise above them and soar like an eagle. Most of who I am today is thanks to my 16 years at the Ateneo.