He's been my best friend since first year high school. I'm glad that for some strange reason, the two of us clicked. He's pretty chill, cool and admirable. He absolutely loves Star Wars. He thinks that Kobe Bryant is the best basketball player in the world. His dance moves during parties are always lit. His stories are quite exaggerated and he's a really noisy person. He will always be there in good times and in bad. Here's to more years of best-friendship. (Matthew M. Mandanas)

Some are born more blessed than others but it's how a person uses their blessings that count. Ateneo gifted me the ability to realize my talents and provided the opportunities to refine them throughout my stay. I learned to have a deeper appreciation of what I have and what else life has to offer. Now I leave with much more, ready to set out on the path that waits for me outside of Ateneo.
