

Jasmin Eliz B. Chua

Well, I made it. Thank God and my family for the never ending support.

MINOR IN DEVELOPMENT MANAGEMENT

Christina Marie Ysabel O. Cruz

There you see her, running across the field, beaming as she plays with her Kythe kids. And there you see her, sitting plainly in the library, humming the Beatles softly while typing away on a laptop. And still there you see her, sitting on a bench, eating her apples smothered in peanut butter and daydreaming about the ocean. And one day you'll see her with the same passion in her eyes and the sun in her smile, keeping her promise to be a mermaid who has no fear of depths, only of shallow living.