

Sergio Luis M. Mercado

From loyalty to his worn-out Blackberry and topsiders to always having what's 'in' (even before they're 'in'), growing a mullet only to cut it all off, or from just wanting to 'get by' to ultimately finding fulfillment in goal-oriented hardwork. Gio's 'La Sallian-turned-Atenean' journey was a tabularasa for a beautiful mess of contradictions that opened him to embrace changes that mold his mindset and his character— and continues to let him be the man he is, today.
