

MINOR IN ECONOMICS, MINOR IN DECISION SCIENCE

Kyle Davin G. Lao

Sydney told me not to graduate, but I did. Sorry, Syd.

The walks through SOM forest, the meals at Gonzaga, the naps at the library, the meetings in Matteo, and all the sleepless nights spent cramming – perhaps there will come a day when I no longer remember what these feel like. But this journey was worth it because it was time spent with family; it was time spent at home. My fellow Ateneans will always be family; Ateneo will always be home. Now and forever.
