

MINOR IN FRENCH

Patricia Denise D. Racela

I thought writing this will be easy but I realized it's not Atenean without the challenge. College is no different. It's a series of risk-taking and asking yourself "kaya pa ba?" and for that, I am grateful.

Risks need faith, for it's in what we endure that we feel His presence; love, for without passion, investing yourself becomes tiring; and finally, a reason bigger than yourself, for it's in service that we find meaning.

Thank you Ateneo for the challenge to live in faith, love, and service.

Don't be afraid of spontaneity and unfamiliarity. It is better to try now or never at all; however, you should never forget your core for this will be your anchor in times of raging seas.
