

Hannah Kristia J. Malate

Bravery is living far from home, away from comfort, and yet waking up everyday to learn, to laugh, to live, and be grateful. It is looking to the sky everyday and remembering the face of a father who loved and was, is, and always will be loved in return. Hannah has confronted more challenges than she's evaded, and learned more lessons in mind and in spirit than she's rejected. The once fearful girl I met four years ago has now bloomed into someone so brave, so beautiful, and so full of life.

Mariel P. Milo

Ateneo started out as a dream. After four glorious years, that has changed in so many ways, yet has somehow remained the same—as have I. For teaching me to see the world in a different way and to appreciate the beauty of life; for opening so many doors; for the people I have met along the way; for allowing me to overcome heartbreaks and defeat, and for pushing me to tread on; for being a place that I can call home—thank you, Ateneo, and above all, thank You.