

Maria Andrea E. De Guzman

Dea is like a puzzle at first glance. Once you've assembled the edges, you'll find that it's harder to solve what's inside. But once you get past the borders of her character, you'll see she is intelligent, creative, talented, and yet unassuming. She pushes through each obstacle with tireless dedication. However, the most important pieces of her show that she is caring, and a person you can lean on. Once you've put these pieces together, you'll feel lucky to have known her.

Take every opportunity to do good. Life at large is always changing, and constants are hard to find. Be constant - to your family, to your friends, to your dogs, to yourself. Ride a bike. Drink lots of water. Lend a helping hand when you can, and you'll find many when you need them. Know when to spend all night studying in a coffee shop, but also know when to book a ticket to your next adventure. Go to bed every night knowing you've shared your light with the world.
