During one of the hardest years of my life, Glyds shared to me her favorite quote: “If there is meaning in life at all, then there must be meaning in suffering.” She helped me persevere through my hardest trials and made me realize that life is, after all, beautiful. I am grateful to have spent my college years with such an intelligent, strong-willed, and loving woman. Though our friendship is not all perfect, it is a friendship that, I know, made my life more meaningful. (M. Manaloto)
