Entering college was a big step. I was scared of what was to come. However, college allowed me to experience so many new things. My professors gave me the tools I needed to understand the world around me through different lenses. The friends I met served as a guiding force to help me survive even the darkest moments of my stay. As Henry Ford said, “My best friend is the one who brings out the best in me.” At the end of the day, I am eternally grateful for all the valuable lessons learned.
