

MINOR IN FRENCH

Ana Paulina S. Reyes

We lose ourselves in things we love. We find ourselves there too. You will and can never be too sure of yourself, but when you are suddenly at that terrifying point of uncertainty, embrace it, for it is the best place to be. There, realize that your life does not depend on who you are, but on who God is. And so I leave grateful and more than ever hopeful.

Looking back at my first day in OrSem and imagining my last day in graduation, I realize that I have changed so much throughout the process. There were so many LTs, thesis statements, terror probs, and group projects that seemed impossible before the deadline, but in the end, I have survived them all. And because of these, I know that whatever hurdles the future may bring—kakayanin dahil kinaya.
