We often find ways to be loved a little more, but the best reason to do anything is out of love, and never for love. I wouldn't have made it through the past four years if it weren't for the love I have for my mom, my dad, and my brother. If I had to, I'd go through the same battle and again, with the friends I've made and the friends who've stuck through. I made it!
